CITY OF KEY WEST ART IN PUBLIC PLACES PROGRAM

Key West Art in Public Places (AIPP) is a City Commission-appointed Board responsible for the ordinance (City Code Section 2-487) that mandates that 1% of the costs of qualifying public and private construction and renovation projects be set aside for the acquisition, administration, commission, installation and maintenance of artwork to be placed on the site of said construction or deposited to the AIPP Community Fund 110 in lieu of art. Qualifying projects include: New construction projects that qualify as a major development plan (MDP) and exceed $500,000.00 in cost; renovation projects that qualify as a major development plan and exceed $100,000.00 in cost; and any qualifying governmental agency-owned project within Key West that requires a building permit. The Key West AIPP Program is administered through the AIPP Administrator in the City of Key West Planning Department, the Florida Keys Council of the Arts, and the AIPP Board.

PROJECT BUDGET

The maximum art budget amount, inclusive of all costs for artists including installation, is $75,000 for any and all commissions for this project. An artist or artist team may be selected to provide public art for the FREDERICK DOUGLASS COMMUNITY CENTER under this RFP; artists are encouraged to submit proposals with costs equal to or less than $75,000. The selected artist(s) shall work with the Public Art Administrator and the City project management team.

PROJECT HISTORY AND SITE DESCRIPTION

The new center will be home to a spacious main hall, classrooms, recording studio and practice rooms for music students of the Bahama Village Music Program and more. The site of the new building, along with a garden and performance space sits on the land of the original 1950 schoolhouse named for the great African-American orator and abolitionist, Frederick Douglass. The FREDERICK DOUGLASS COMMUNITY CENTER is situated in the designated historic district (old town) on the island. The neighborhood has evolved into a multi-cultural island community filled with passionate and dynamic residents.

Key West, Florida is the southernmost city in the continental United States with a resident population of approximately 25,000 people, and 2.3+ million visitors each year who come to enjoy the natural beauty and marine environment, dining, arts and culture, and diverse history of the area. The Florida Keys, a 43-island archipelago extends 210 miles from the southeast coast of Florida, and separates the Gulf of Mexico from the Atlantic Ocean. The new FREDERICK DOUGLASS COMMUNITY CENTER will celebrate the vibrant and distinguished history of the Bahamian culture and generations of families who have worked and lived in the Bahama Village neighborhood.

This RFP for Public Art strives to be an open call for artwork that will embrace the memory of the nurturing school community that was the epicenter of the neighborhood, its educators, and a vibrant social scene and its current and future intended uses. The goal is to celebrate Douglass School’s history, and inspire the current and future community gathering place that integrates public art, local culture, an historically significant area, and the Key West Island community. The public art projects selected will reflect in spirit – collaboration and creative placemaking.

SCOPE OF WORK

The goal of the project is to commission inspiring and unique site-specific public art work installations for the main entrance to the Center, and additional targeted spaces, that will welcome residents, students and visitors that represents the Village’s significant contributions to the Island’s diverse history. The entranceway should be exciting, colorful and engaging and be a celebration of the monumental space. Successful public art proposals will address and acknowledge the neighborhood’s evolution with a bold and creative vision. The artwork should reflect the importance of this brand new space as a community gathering place that celebrates the history of the site and its adjacent neighborhoods, as well as the culture of Key West. The artwork will ideally engage the public through educational and/or interactive components consistent with local culture and the environment. Community mentorship art projects are encouraged but not required. It is envisioned that this public art work installation will enhance the neighborhood and create a welcoming entranceway to raise awareness and a tribute to this neighborhood’s history.
